

The purpose of this event is to share, to learn, and to understand

- 1) what other communities are doing to address the issues of housing and homelessness;
- 2) what action steps are needed to end homelessness in Ventura; and
- 3) what the faith community, the business community, social service providers, government, and individuals can do to end homelessness in Ventura.

Our goal is to inform, motivate, and mobilize the community so that together we can end homelessness in Ventura.

What is PATH?

PATH is People Assisting the Homeless, and its mission is “to end homelessness for individuals, families, and communities.” Ever since it was founded in 1984, PATH has pioneered bold and effective approaches that bring communities together to assist people experiencing homelessness.

PATH finds funding, builds housing, and provides services that move people into housing and help them stay there. PATH is working in many communities, including San Diego, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, and San Luis Obispo.

At this workshop we will explore together which options will work best to end homelessness in Ventura.

Together We Can End Homelessness

At the March 12, 2015 event, faith communities shared together information regarding homelessness in Ventura and the many ways people are helping. This workshop acknowledges that we can only end homelessness through additional housing.

PATH, a provider of housing throughout California, will share what they have accomplished in other communities. PATH ends homelessness and improves communities through housing, supportive services, and community engagement.

We will be learning from their work as we explore what can be accomplished in Ventura. A panel of local experts will answer questions and address local concerns.

Be a Partner for Change!

The Faith Subcommittee of the Ventura Social Services Task Force is sponsoring a workshop to proactively address the need for a community-wide effort to end homelessness.

We invite representatives from houses of faith, the business community, government, and the public -- All who want to help are welcome at this event.
